

WELCOME TO HIGHLANDER STUDIO

SCULTOR, Vic McCallum, a native Georgian, has work that graces both private collections and public spaces. He received a Master of Fine Arts degree in 1982 at UGA while studying under renowned sculptor Professor William J. Thompson.

Vic has created works that encompass all aspects of life - from humans and animals to angels and mythology figures.

TRIGGER AND ROY ROGERS

In the late 1940's, America's favorite horse and rider traveled by private railcar to Buford, Georgia for a custom Bona Allen show saddle. This sculpture depicts the fitting of that saddle for Trigger and Roy Rogers.

This Hollywood business connection illustrates the nation's recognition of the skilled craftsmen found in this area for over 100 years.

The saddlemaker stands in tribute to the generations responsible for this area's historic industry.

COMING UP

March 5, 2010

Vic McCallum will be at the following location on the 5th of March to show off his most recent work for.....

more...